

POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT 2009 Summer Internship

The National Center for Appropriate Technology (NCAT) is a private non-profit corporation that works to promote sustainable technologies and systems, especially for the benefit of economically disadvantaged individuals and communities.

Spend your summer working with professionals on sustainable agriculture projects. Learn new skills and put your college education to work! NCAT is currently looking for qualified students to work in our Fayetteville, AR, office. Interns will be given the opportunity to display and increase their video production, desktop publishing, editing, proofreading, research, Web and computer skills.

Qualifications: The successful candidates will have good communication skills, an interest or background in sustainable technologies in agriculture, energy or communities and a high level of computer skills. The successful student will interact with the public and NCAT staff in a professional manner.

Opportunities:

- Students with experience or expertise in agriculture, agronomy, horticulture, farm management, animal science, agribusiness, or marketing may be assigned to project duties in Arkansas that could include researching and writing technical material for use by farmers, ranchers or educators.
- An intern with desktop publishing skills may be assigned to producing and formatting publications, brochures or other documents.
- An intern interested in video production may be assigned to shoot footage of local farms, interview farmers or others involved with sustainable agriculture, or edit footage to create multimedia projects.
- All interns will interact closely with professional NCAT staff and leave the experience with increased skills and a better understanding of the principles of sustainability.

Compensation: $8.00 per hour depending on experience. Students with work study eligibility will also be considered. An additional stipend for transportation and living costs may be available.

Deadline for applications: May 15, 2009 or until a suitable candidate is selected.

Application Process: All applications must include a cover letter, a current resume and a completed and signed NCAT intern application form. Cover letters must highlight experience and skills relevant to the position. NCAT intern application forms are available online at www.ncat.org or from our Personnel Office. Incomplete applications will not be considered. Send or bring completed application materials to:
